

Basic Aerobatics Course

If you're looking to expand your aviation horizons, it's time to take your flying to the next level. Explore the third dimension of aircraft control.

Besides being incredibly invigorating, basic aerobatic training will make you a safer and more confident pilot by developing your personal awareness and instilling self discipline. An extension of our Unusual Attitude/Upset Recovery Course, our Basic Aerobatics Course is your first step toward flying more advanced maneuvers and participating in local competitions.

Upon successful completion of the aerobatics syllabus, you will receive your tailwheel endorsement, and an EFA sign-off to practice your new skills in the Super Decathlon.

EFA has one of the best aerobatics programs in the world! Our course instructors are all highly trained professionals who, themselves, participate in aerobatic competitions. In addition to making sure you have fun, each instructor will tailor the syllabus to fit your ability and personal comfort level.

The Chief Aerobatic Instructor is 1995 National Aerobatic Champion, Michael Goulian. A veteran member of the United States National Aerobatic Team and a world-renowned airshow pilot, Michael has used his competition and airshow experience to create a syllabus designed to increase the safety and ability of any pilot. He has trained all of the aerobatic instructors at EFA to uphold the highest most standards and safety practices for aerobatic flight.

Sign up for the program today and take your first step to becoming a safer, more competent pilot.
